FAYETTE COUNTY LEADS WORLD
IN SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK.Connellsville Convention Will Be In Accord With Exalted Rank This County Holds.

GOVERNOR HUGHES MAY COME

Colonial Theatre Is Regarded As The Only Place in Town That Will Be Large Enough to Accommodate the Crowd of Sunday School Workers.

"Pennsylvania leads in the Sunday School work of the world, and Fayette county leads all the counties in the Keystone State for aggressiveness and perfection of organization. Pennsylvania is the Keystone of the Sunday School work of the world, and Fayette county's leading the State consequently places this county as the leader of the entire world in Sunday School work." This statement, made by President U. S. Forsythe, of the Fayette County Sunday School Association at the meeting held at the Y. M. C. A. last night to prepare for the coming Sunday School Convention in Connellsville, created a strong sensation of pride and inspiration among those present. A number of the ministers verified the assertion, saying that the county is so recognized throughout the Sunday School world. To the great majority the statement was new.

The convention of Fayette county which will be held here on June 10 and 11 will be in accord with this. President Forsythe said last night that he had been in correspondence with Governor Hughes of New York, endeavoring to get him to come here for the convention, and the New York or knowing the importance of this State and county, expressed himself encouragingly upon the proposition. If Governor Hughes fails to come, arrangements will be made to have some other National personage here for the meeting.

It looks as if the Colonial Theatre will be used as the assembly hall for the convention as there is no other place in town that can come anywhere near accommodating the crowd that will attend. The convention will last two days and evenings, and will be a representative gathering of the aggressive workers of the county, each Sunday school being entitled to delegates to the convention. A feature of the convention will be a parade of the Sunday school workers on the last day of the meeting.

The gathering last night was a most successful one, although the storm cut down the attendance. 130 acceptances of the invitation being received, and 75 being present. The storm in one way was of advantage, however, for it delayed the opening of the meeting about half an hour and this time came in most delightfully and profitably in the Sunday school workers getting acquainted with each other, a chief desire of those calling the meeting.

Augmented by a large chorus of the singers from the various churches, under leadership of Prof. L. L. Henry of Chicago, there will be a program offered that will be of a measure in accord with Fayette's prominence in the Sunday school world. President Forsythe said last night that the speakers will include the following, who are of national fame in their lines: W. G. Landis, of Philadelphia, State Secretary of the Association; M. E. Trotter, of Chicago, one of the greatest of the slum workers in the interests of Sunday schools; Mrs. Carrie S. Bessinger, of New York City, one of the most successful workers in a personal character and soul winning; and Anna Lee Frost, of Louisville, Ky., leader in Sunday school circles as the greatest tellers of Bible stories in the world. In story telling she has no peer in the Sunday schools of the world.

Fayette county has taken her place in the work by her aggressiveness and perfect organization, and this is recognized everywhere. A feature that will contribute to the coming convention was the formation of the Executive Committee last evening, with the superintendent of the 19 Sunday schools as members, and the pastors of their churches as members ex-officio. Frank L. Chase, Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., was selected as chairman. Each member of the Executive Committee will be the chairman of a sub-committee. The prime value of this arrangement is that the Y. M. C. A. is centrally located, is open day and evening, and when any thing of importance is needed a call for the Executive Committee brings out what each sub-committee is doing, and covers the entire convention arrangements.

At the meeting last evening talks were made by the following pastors: Rev. C. E. Wagner, of the Reformed Church; Rev. A. J. Ashe, of the Methodist Episcopal Church; Rev. David Jones, of the Methodist Protestant Church; Rev. Frank B. White, of the United Presbyterian Church, and Rev. H. W. Miller, of the United Presbyterian Church of Scotland, who was a visitor. The meeting was presided over by Dr. J. French Kerr, of the United Presbyterian Church, and the invocation was delivered by Rev. David Jones, of the Methodist Protestant Church. The luncheon was served by the Ladies' Auxiliary in their customary delightful style.

WIRE BRIDGE BLOWN
AWAY NEAR DAWSONStorm Carries Away the Suspension
One Used by Rainey Men in Crossing the Yough.

DAWSON, April 30.—The Rainey bridge located about a quarter of a mile east of Dawson, was blown from its piers yesterday evening about 5 o'clock, as a result of the heavy wind storm that raged here. This bridge is owned and was constructed by W. J. Rainey for the use of the miners which work at the Fort Hill and Rainey works. The miners live at Raineytown and are employed at Fort Hill on the opposite side of the river. It was a bridge built of heavy wire rope, and was reported safe in every respect. The bridge is now a complete wreck, lying on the east side of the piers and held only by the heavy ropes at the water's edge. Luckily no one was on the bridge when the accident happened. The men are now compelled to walk to the Dawson bridge to get to their work.

MANY HEAVY STORMS
STRIKE SCOTSDALEElectricity, Wind and Water, Singly and in Combination, Rage in the Mill Town Locality.

SCOTSDALE, April 30.—This community has been troubled for the last 24 hours over some of the most violent storms that have ever passed over here. Thunder storms, rain storms and wind storms each separately sweeping over the locality, and combinations of three elements raging at one time as well. The wind storm last evening was an extremely violent one, and chimney bricks, shingles, telegraph poles and shingles being blown down by the force of the storm. The lightning was very brilliant and several bolts struck about here. About West Overton the wind was particularly violent. The rain storm this morning poured down heavily, and the streams were much higher than they had grown during the previous rains.

William Hunt Visits Connellsville After Ten Years' Absence.

William Hunt of San Francisco, Cal., is a guest at the home of his niece, Mrs. S. A. Buttermore, York avenue. This is the first visit Mr. Hunt has made to Connellsville in ten years, and he is surprised at the many changes that have taken place during his absence.

Mr. Hunt passed through the earthquake of 1907 and can relate some interesting and vivid accounts of the terrible disaster.

Scottdale Workers Will Get Over $35,000 Pay Tomorrow.

SCOTSDALE, April 30.—As a gauge of returning prosperity to this community the industrial payday of Saturday will be more than a good one, for with two immense concerns it will be a record breaker. The aggregate of the amount of money which will be paid out in Scottdale tomorrow by the three largest industries here will be over $35,000. The pay will be by far the best that has been handed out here in many months, and at that it means that one of the biggest plants did not do as much work and will not have as large a pay as usual. The United States Cast Iron Pipe & Foundry Company, which is a very steady concern, fell down somewhat last month from their usual running, and their pay will only go a little over $9,000 for the two weeks.

The Scottdale plant of the American Sheet & Tin Plate Company will go in the record breaking class by pouring out the biggest pay ever made for one plant here in two weeks, the corporation's checks to their men aggregating over $20,000. This mill has been running on good orders and mak-

CHICAGO, Ill., April 30.—For the sixth time this year the great Mississippi cyclone belt of Tennessee, Mississippi, Arkansas, Mississippi and adjacent States have been swept by a series of cyclones that left in its track from 40 to 50 dead and hundreds injured, and a half dozen towns destroyed, and a property loss of millions of dollars. Incendiary Origin—Officer Bravely Catches Failing Children.

United Press Telegram.
NEW YORK, April 30.—Nine lives were lost, six persons are missing and 14 are in the hospital as the result of an incendiary fire which gutted the six-story tenement house in the heart of the Italian quarter today. The dead:

Stephano Bollevin, aged 2.
Anna Bollevin, aged 2.
Frank Bollevin, aged 2.
Antonette Bollevin, aged 2.
Matteo Bollevin, aged 22.
Cassettina Bollevin, age unknown.
Ludwig Bollevin, age unknown.
Domitico Bollevin, age unknown.
Unidentified man.

When the fire was discovered the lower hall and stairways were a sheet of flame. At the bottom of the lower stairs a two-gallon can was found which contained kerosene. Investigation developed the fact that Jacob Bruck and Adolph Weiss, who had a store on the street floor and another establishment in Harlem, received a letter a fortnight ago which had at the top of it a skull and cross bones and read as follows:

"Our society demands $1,000." To Officer Brossner great credit is given by the superiors today. When he reached the scene he stood on the ground yelling to the frightened people to wait for the engines. They did not heed him and soon one mother yelled to him and threw her baby down. He caught it, and soon, as he says, "the air was filled with flying kids."

Seven dropped in as many seconds, and the big policeman caught five. One had its brains knocked out on the curbstone when it slipped through his hands. Another's skull was fractured by striking his helmet and belching off.

MEMPHIS, April 30.—The trial of James H. Boyle was this morning postponed until next Wednesday. Boyle, his wife, will be tried the day following. At 10 o'clock this morning former Judge Miller, the defense's attorney, asked the case postponed until next Wednesday because the original information against the prisoner is missing.

It is reported that the first information could not be produced in court. Judge Williams tried to arrange a hearing on Monday or Tuesday but as there is important cases to be heard he finally agreed to the case going over until Wednesday.

Negro Boys Located at Home by Officers and Portion of Stolen Goods Recovered.—Search Is Made For Other
Two Who Were in Affair.

MT. PLEASANT, April 30.—During the night five men broke into the slaughter house of Edward Witt in the Danmon addition and took away 900 pounds of hides valued at more than $100. Most of the goods were recovered and three arrests made through the efforts of Constable James Ellis and Officer Edward Stevens, who struck the trail soon after the robbery occurred.

Ellis and Stevens went to the slaughter house and found that the door had been broken open. They learned that a horse and buggy and horse and wagon had been used to cart the stuff away. Following one trail they came to the home of the three Lewis boys, all colored, and found many of the hides. George, William and Harry Lewis, the latter but 16 years old, were arrested and this morning gave bail for their hearing. The arrest of the other two is expected at any time. The hides were taken two miles from the slaughter house.

PAID IT LONG AGO;

Petitions to be Let Into a Defence by Having Judgment Against Him Opened.

UNIONTOWN, April 30.—J. S. Rowan has petitioned the court to be let into a defence by having the judgment of $45.67 against him opened. Some time ago W. P. Jackson of Ohiopele sued Rowan to recover on a note issued July 8, 1890, payable in 30 days. E. S. Jackson, an endorser, was also named as a defendant.

Judgment was entered for the plaintiff but Rowan now says he paid the note long ago. He gave Jackson, he says, $20 soon after the note became due, and paid the balance in 1901. The original note was for $29.07.

John Malone was arrested yesterday by Constable J. W. Mitchell and given a hearing before Justice of the Peace W. P. Clark on charges of absconding from a board bill of $10. Bishop & Jennings were the prosecutors.

Malone was held for court and went to jail when he was unable to provide bail until the June term.

Drunks and Disorderlies
Get Mixed Up In the Cells.

Circles day has come and gone and Burgess J. L. Evans faced the left over in police court this morning. There was a large aggregation of drunks and disorderlies and it took more than an hour to dispose of them. The system in vogue in the police department proved to be the worst kind of a fiasco and there was every variety of confusion before the session of police court closed.

In transferring prisoners from the West Side to the police station the police became tangled in their bookkeeping and at times it was necessary to guess the charges preferred. It is possible a new system may be devised in the future.

The present scheme is to place a man in the cell and give the number on the docket. Then the charge is noted, together with the officer making the arrest. An arresting officer seldom appears against a prisoner in police court. If it becomes necessary to change cells during the night, or to put two men in a cell, it hard to tell which is which on the docket.

It is gradually being realized in po-

MINING MEN HEAR
INSTRUCTIVE TALKSGathering of Frick Employees of Southern Fayette County Held at Uniontown Last Night.

UNIONTOWN, April 30.—Superintendents, mine foremen, assistant mine foremen, fire bosses, rib bosses and timbermen of the H. C. Frick Coke Company, representing the southern district of the coke region, met in the assembly room in the First National Bank building last evening and listened to able addresses delivered by Austin King, Chief Mine Inspector for the H. C. Frick Coke Company, and Patrick Mulloy, district mine inspector of the same company.

The meeting was called to discuss the prevention of mine accidents and for the purpose of inaugurating and maintaining a systematic method of timbering with a view to further safeguarding the men employed in the mines.

Last night's meeting was one of a series to be conducted by Mr. King throughout the entire district. He is being assisted by the different district mine inspectors. A similar meeting was held in Scottdale yesterday afternoon for the middle district. That for the Klondike will be held in the near future at some point in that region.

GREENE COUNTIANS
BUY W. VA. COALPurchased Several Months Ago at $120 Is Sold at $130—Is Near Narrow Gauge Road.

MORGANTOWN, April 30.—A deed was filed for record in the office of County Clerk John M. Gregg, yesterday afternoon, recording the sale of the coal underlying nine tracts of land near Mooreville, in Clay district, by A. L. Delaney to the following Greene county men: J. M. Scott, H. C. Scott, Charles E. Stronider, M. L. Pethel, Charles E. Dittman, J. M. Lewis, R. B. Kent, H. K. Coffroth and W. H. Kent. The largest of the nine contracts contains a little more than 46 acres, one measures over eight acres, and the other seven are about six acres each, making a total of about 93 acres. According to the consideration named in the deed, the price paid for the coal was $130 an acre, $12,743.31 for the entire tract.

The coal was bought about two months ago, from John F. Gump by A. L. Delaney of Waynesburg, for $120 an acre, giving the purchaser a profit of $10 an acre on the property. The land is situated near Mooreville, about 25 miles from the narrow gauge railroad running through Greene county.

In spite of the bad night a good crowd attended the circus performance. Those who remained outside the tent watched the process of taking down the canvas city with interest. One wagon, loaded with poles, stuck in the mud and it required the combined strength of 24 horses and two elephants to move it. By the time the evening performance had closed scores of holes had been blown in the main tent. Some people on the Connellsville side of the river obtained field glasses and watched the performance from their homes.

On the South Side the wind blew unusually high at times and several trees and telephone poles were blown down. It took several hours to get the phone system working right following the storm.

It took but a short time for the rain to wash away and but little difference was shown in the river. The gauge showed a stage of 4.03 feet last evening and only 4.12 this morning. The temperature was 62 this morning, the warmest day of the week.

WILLIAM DURBIN IS HURT

Injured While Attempting to Cross the Yough River on Footbridge.
I. Aaron Has Narrow Escape When Window Pane Crashes to Ground.

A high wind, accompanied by a downpour of rain, thunder and lightning, swept over this region yesterday evening and last night, doing considerable damage. Lives were endangered for a time, trees uprooted, roofs partially blown away and traffic impaired. The storm laid out into the night while this morning there was another heavy shower which lasted for some time.

For a time the streets were flooded and almost impassable. A vast quantity of dirt and debris was swept down town from the hill districts and littered the streets of the business section. The sewers were unable to carry off all the surface water which washed past in a torrent.

During the rain storm there was a brilliant electrical display, each flash of lightning being accompanied by a heavy thunder clap. Most people kept indoors during the worst of the storm and those who were not so fortunate as to be inside had hard work of it trying to walk through the storm. The wind was high at all times and almost swept pedestrians from their feet.

The lightning caused some trouble with the transmission lines of the West Penn and trolley traffic suffered a delay of half an hour during the evening. This was soon straightened out and for the rest of the night it was not difficult to keep on schedule time.

The wind blew a lightning pole down near Reidsmore, but this was the most severe damage done the company in this section. The storm was especially bad down the Yough river, in the vicinity of McKeesport, and near Youngwood, over in Westmoreland county.

William Durbin, a freeman employed by the Trotter Water Company at its plant above town, had a narrow escape from instant death when he attempted to cross the suspension footbridge over the river last night. As it was he is seriously injured at his South Connellsville home. Durbin attempted to cross the bridge while the storm was at its worst. The frail structure was overturned but instead of being precipitated into the seething torrent below, he was blown on his back and landed on the ground.

I. Aaron of the Aaron Company, had a narrow escape yesterday afternoon. He was standing in front of the Aaron building in North Pittsburgh street, but heard a noise overhead. He stepped back into the entrance of the store and an instant later a pane of glass from the fourth story fell to the ground and was shattered to a thousand pieces on the spot where Mr. Aaron stood. Fortunately no one was passing at the time so the accident was harmless.

In spite of the bad night a good crowd attended the circus performance. Those who remained outside the tent watched the process of taking down the canvas city with interest. One wagon, loaded with poles, stuck in the mud and it required the combined strength of 24 horses and two elephants to move it. HOTEL CREDITORS WANT TO RECOVER.

Claim That Property in Hotel
Did Not Belong to McBride.

SUIT AGAINST THE P. R. R.

Develops That It Should Have Been Brought in Brick Company's Name.
Show Cause Why Judgment Should Not Be Opened.

UNIONTOWN, April 30.—There seems to have been some activity on the part of creditors of Hugh McBride, applicant for the Trans-Allegheny House, Connellsville, who was released a licensee in the Frothingham's office yesterday, J. A. Elliott & Company began reviving proceedings against Charles Wilson, a constable, and May D. and Porter S. Newberry, owners of the property, to recover possession of beds, furniture and various trappings used in the hotel.

The plaintiff declares that the goods now in possession of the defendants by reason of a levy directed against McBride did not belong to McBride out to the plaintiff.

A suit recently instituted by the General Coke Company against the Pennsylvania railroad, operating the Southwest Pennsylvania railroad, was an action to recover the value of a carload of fire brick shipped a number of years ago from the Dunbar plant of the United Fire Brick Company to the plaintiff, but never received by them. An action which came before the court recently between the coke company and the brick concern demonstrated that the ownership of the brick was in the name of the consignee and it was therefore up to the latter to institute proceedings.

Attorney D. M. Hertzog, representing the coke company, yesterday filed another action in behalf of the company, this time against the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, operating the Monongahela railroad. No statement was filed with this action.

A rule was granted yesterday by Judge J. Q. Van Swearingen in the case of C. C. Garlettis, for the use of the Monongahela National Bank, of Brownsville against W. H. Glimery in behalf of the defendant to have the plaintiff to show cause why a judgment for $100 entered in this case should not be opened and the defendant let into a defense. Glimery claims that November 28, last, he gave Garlettis a note for $400 to pay for two horses, a wagon and harness purchased by him. He claims Garlettis promised to wait a year, but at the end of four months it was necessary to renew the note. This he did, it is claimed, and now Garlettis has entered judgment on the first note, while he still holds the second one given to him.

Letters of administration upon the estate of the late Sarah Cameron, of North Union township, were issued yesterday to a son, Walter Cameron, in the sum of $5,000 being furnished with Wallace Miller and John C. Barber as sureties. Mrs. Cameron died February 9, last, leaving a personal estate valued at $5,000, the heirs being six sons and four daughters.

FIRE AT BROWNSVILLE.

Department and Apparatus Hauled to
It in Automobiles.

BROWNSVILLE, April 30.—Fire broke out yesterday afternoon, and the department made a start, but finding the fire at the top of South Brownsville hill, were unable to go. Dr. Smith offered to take the apparatus up if they could fasten it to his automobile and L. E. Blaisdell of Uniontown with his auto took the rest.

The fire originated in an unknown manner. The barns of S. Cox and R. Davis were completely destroyed, the loss amounting to about $12,000, with no insurance.

This is another link in the long chain of evidence to prove the reliability of this standard medicine for women.

FAYETTE COUNTY'S FAVORITE SONS IN STATE POLITICS

The Republican State Convention will be held June 15th, and there has been some considerable speculation recently concerning the probable per sonnel of the ticket. The Salzwart Philadelphia Inquirer, which is understood to speak by the book says:

Authoritative announcement was made last night that the Republican State leaders have agreed to support former State Senator Jeremiah Albert Stuber of Lancaster county, for the nomination. For State Treasurer to succeed John J. O'Connell of this city.

There is no doubt about his re-election in the nomination of the party. Not only is the selection of Senator Stuber a recognition of the veterans of the Civil War, but he is also a Union Army, but his nomination may be regarded as a tribute to the Old Guard, the old-time Republican of Lancaster county, of which he has been a sturdy and consistent member for many years.

The agreement upon a Lancaster county man for State Treasurer will send the Auditor Generalship to West with former Representative Jesse L. Hartman of Blair and Senators W. L. Crow of Fayette, and A. E. Shoen of Erie among the most prominent mentioned. It has been said that Senator Crow, who is President pro tem of the Senate, will have the nomination if he wants it, but the issue is still said to be open as he desires to return to the Senate.

The Morgantown Dispatch, whose political news is usually more interesting than instructive, offers this illuminating reason why Senator Crow may have the nomination if he wants it.

Crow is said to be the favorite for the reason that should he be elected it is not believed that J. Thompson of Gettysburg would want to be a candidate for Governor when Governor Stuart's successor is nominated. Certain State leaders, it is for certain, fear that Thompson will give them another fight.

It is not believed here in Fayette county that Joseph V. Thompson is concerning himself just now about State politics, but it is at all certain that Senator Ferguson would offer objection if he wins. The Republican candidate for Governor will no doubt come from Western Pennsylvania. Some names have already been mentioned in this connection. We do not know what a year may bring forth, but if Fayette then has a candidate he will no doubt receive the cordial support of his own and many neighboring counties, and possibly of the Republican leaders elsewhere.

In the meantime, it is fluttering to Fayette county to think that one of her sons is so highly thought of in State political circles as to be made President of the State and be virtually offered the nomination for Auditor General.

Fayette may furnish the State with a Governor some day, and if she does we have no doubt she will furnish a good one.

THE STEEL CORPORATION AND THE TARIFF RATES

Senator Bailey of Texas declares that the United States Steel Corporation can make money under a reduction of one-third in the tariff duties. Perhaps this is true. But it is also true that the smaller iron and steel operations could not make a profit.

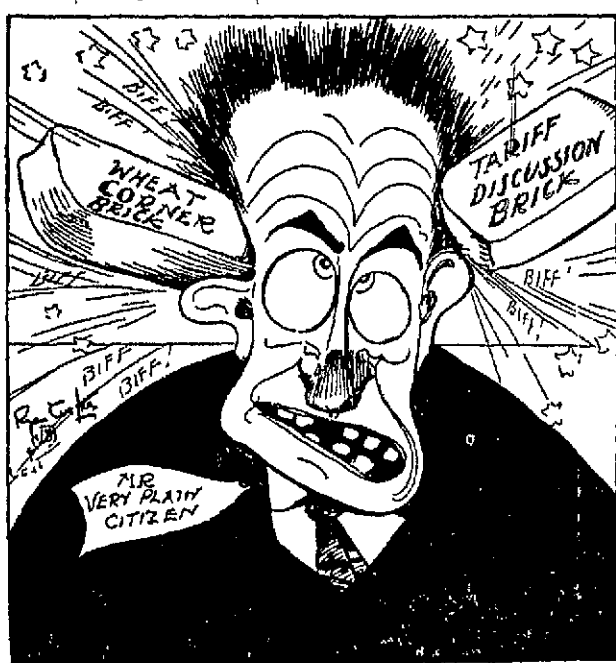

That is the reason the smaller or independent interests will sooner or later decide that consolidation or merger into one big company is their logical and profitable finish.

Modern business operations demand an aggregation of capital and effort the elimination of the middleman's profits economy in management and operation to the end that costs be reduced to the minimum.

The extent to which this has been done by consolidation and the formation of great corporations such as the United States Steel Corporation, controlling their own raw materials, owning their establishments and largely their transportation facilities from the coal and ore mines to the finished products at the mill, has been so great as to warrant Senator Bailey's statement.

We know that the Steel Corporation has made big profits since it was organized. It is also apparent that the small operators will have to place themselves in the same position to be able to compete. In fact to save themselves from total destruction during the years of depression to which the coal and iron and steel trades are particularly subject.

There is small safety and little profit for the small boys who have to keep close to shore or die high and dry during stormy times.

Mr. Plain Citizen—Yes my beloved brethren, living hath his joys

THE FREAK WEATHER, ITS CAUSES AND EFFECTS

April will go down in history as a month of sudden and violent changes of temperature, of how and bluster, stress and storm, of destruction and desolation, disaster and death. The April showers of the almanac have been fierce gales and drenching rains. The spirit of March ruled the earth and smote it grievously.

The howling gales and terrible tornadoes of the sudden changes in temperature. The shifting currents of warm and cold air, the agitation of the atmosphere and the more active the formation the more marked the changes. And the more furious the storms. Most of our worst storms in April were not local but general all over the country and the people got no relief until the storms had swept out over the waters of the oceans.

Whether these storms have any relation to the unusual number and character of the earthquake disturbances the wise men have not told us, but the two either incidentally or as cause and effect, go hand in hand together.

We will indulge the hope that May may see genuine April weather.

A SOMERSET COUNTY IDEA OF THE FEMININE FIT

Hon. Peter Livingston editor of the Salisbury Star takes no stock in the cult of fashionable feminine beauty. He is evidently an admirer of generous proportions. He says:

There is no use lamenting over the notions of the wasteful foppish apes, for women of that kind are no business and the sooner they exterminate themselves by bowing to the decrees of fashion the better. Besides by resorting to tight lacing and other foolish fads, the only way some women are able to get covered and it is the only way some of them are to be squeezed.

The winter nights in Somerset county are long and cold and perhaps there is a natural reason for Somerset county taste. However, the concluding sentence of Editor Livingston leaves us in some doubt as to what particular feminine figure is "it."

It is evident that the H. G. Frick coke company did not want its mining community in Europe on a holiday hunt, but strictly for business and it is also evident that the company is making the best possible use of the information by impressing it upon the minds of the Frick employees at home and that all may profit thereby practically as much as the commissionaire who made the examinations.

The Sugar Trust paid a sweet find to Uncle Sam.

Professor J. Buell Snyder would make a good county superintendent. He is a good schoolmaster, an active school manager and he evidently doesn't believe in holding all the teachers' institutions in Gettysburg.

The circus got in bad, and got out with difficulty.

It was a fair show but a foul day.

"The new Sultan is democratic," declares the Official Organ of the Young. Perhaps he is, just a little, but perhaps enough to warrant classing him as a Bryan Democrat.

The autophobists who ride at rail round speed the billions day through storm and stress and seas of mud will not favor us with the beatification of their presence today, but in this particular endurance test we hope and trust and fully expect that the people of Conneltsville will smother their disappointment, suppress their feelings and stand no weak and unmanly tears.

J. Phylus has entered his chariot in the endurance race sprinter attachment and all.

Coke plants are changing hands in the face of impending market. But the changes are little ones and the plants look.

Scottdale is pretty thoroughly convinced that the food regulations that have come around that way again.

The Butler Citizen will issue a morning daily beginning May 1st.

MAN IS CAUGHT LOOKING IN WINDOW

Young Ladies See Him in Front of W. D. McGinnis House and Spread Alarm.

The South Side was in an uproar last night when an unknown man was discovered stooping beneath the side window in W. D. McGinnis' home on Washington avenue. The man was first discovered by two young ladies who were on their way home. One of the girls took to her heels and ran screaming down the street. The other too frightened to flee stood in her tracks while the man snatched away from his position and turned down the street.

As the man came opposite the badly frightened girl she let out a scream which roused the neighborhood. Mr. and Mrs. McGinnis rushed to the door and the former gave chase. Others in the neighborhood also went after the man but he made good his escape.

RECIPE FOR BEING A BIG STATESMAN.

Mother Can Easily See How to Proceed With the Boy.

WHERE RULES ARE TO BE FOUND

Importance in Tackling Right Name and Getting into Proper Occupation. Tender of Pennsylvania, Exception in Professions, But Has One Favorite Name.

United Press Telegram. WASHINGTON, April 23.—The proud mother who wants her son to grow up and become a statesman can gain valuable information as to the proper procedure by consulting the Congressional Record. The biographies of the representatives of the people give the clue.

In the first place, the aspiring parent ought to choose the honest rugged name of William. There are more Congressmen with this cognomen than the square inch in the House of Representatives, than any other—30 out of the total of 393. John is also a favorite, with 37 bearing that name in the present membership. But William is better. "Bill" sounds good with the masses.

Thirty-one members answer to the name of Charles. 25 to that of James; 17 were baptized Joseph; 15 bear the surname of George; there are 11 Henrys, 10 Thomases, 7 Roberts, and the same number of Franks, 5 Ells, 4 Williams, 1 with the huzzel "George Washington" as their first name, and one who seems to adore his name and calls himself plain "Jack"—Beall, of Texas.

Then, too, the far-sighted parent should carefully choose an occupation for the child destined for congressional fame. By all means he should be a lawyer—there are 248 legal lights in the present House, which is away and above every other profession. Second choice is newspaper work. Twenty graduates of journalism or proprietors of newspapers are members. There are 19 who confess to farming in their biographies, 14 bankers, and 9 lumbermen or manufacturers of forest products. There are three telegraphers practicing physiology (who by the way always get well advertised when anyone is suddenly taken sick around the House chamber, as "Dr. Spooner," a member from such-and-such a State attended the patient), and one actor—Julius Kahn of California, who still affects a poetic flowing tie and is given to encores. Of course, it's possible for men with other professions to break into Congress—John K. Tener of Pennsylvania, a professional baseball player at one time, for instance, achieved the feat. And so did Representative Anderson, of Ohio, who like the horses in Oliver Optic's books rose from the humble walk of news boy and boot-black. Murphy, of Missouri, and Chapman of Washington, both are proud to write in their little biographies that they were at one time railroad section hands. There are quite a number who declare they were cowboys and punchers.

To be a real representative of the people, however—especially if one comes from a rural district—it sounds best to be able to state in a biography that "he was born and reared on the farm." Exactly 51 representatives claim this distinction in the latest edition of the Congressional Directory. Two others—Webb, of North Carolina, and Carter of Oklahoma—however, have this "beat to a frazzle," when they proudly include the fact that they first saw light in a log cabin. That is a tasteful stroke. Neeligan, of California, has distinction which he makes much of in his biography—he was born on an elegant wagon en route to the great State of California.

When an aspirant for congressional honors is able to tick a war record on his career, it undeniably helps. The latest biography in the Directory of Congressmen—that of Representative Kellar of Ohio, who tells about him self in a matter of 120 words—has a whole lot about services in the Civil and Spanish-American wars. Kellar, however, is the only ex-Speaker now a member of the House, so he is entitled to devote a little more space to him self than anyone else. The nearest approach to this is Southwick, of New York, with 140 words, and Southwick went even a war veteran, let alone an ex-Speaker.

Speaking of wars, it is noted that 20 members of the present House served in the Civil War—19 with the Union forces (two of these were awarded a medal of honor for bravery—Keller, of Ohio and Bradley, of New York). 11 with the Boys in Gray. Sixteen members either served directly in the Spanish-American war or indirect results in participation of some kind. Representative Kellar has a further distinction to being the only member of the House who served in both struggles.

The present form of the other side of the war—who has the hope of his son becoming a Congressman should not despair. A member doesn't necessarily have to be a native of the United States. There are 17 in the present House who were born abroad. Of these 1 were from Germany, 1 from England proper, and one each from Wales, Ireland and New Scotland, two from Ireland, two from Scotland, two

Pot and Pan Philosophy

All the soap and muscle in the world won't clean your pots and pans as they should be cleaned.

Ordinary washing of cooking utensils passes over whole hidden nests of little wiggles—commonly called germs.

Gold Dust is an antiseptic washing powder that not only removes the visible dirt and grease, but goes deep after every trace of germ life—sterilizes pots, pans, pails and kettles—leaving them clean, wholesome and safe.

Just shake a little Gold Dust in your dish-water and it will make your pots sparkle and span as when new and your tins shine like silver.

from Sweden, and one from Bohemia. Nobody isn't necessarily an utter brute in a Congressman. There is only one really modest man in the House, when it comes to writing biographies—Robert Bruce Mason, of Arkansas, who says all he wants to about himself in three lines—7 words. However, Mason makes up for this by being omnipresent on the floor of the House and as he is of an inquisitive turn of mind he figures a lot in the Congressional Record—almost as much as Mann, of Illinois, who earns his title of "Great Objector" by being on hand every minute of the day and speaking at least a few words every 60 minutes.

BALDNESS UNKNOWN
Twenty Years From To-day a Bald-headed Man Will Be An Unusual Sight.

One of the most prominent druggists of America made a statement a few weeks ago which has caused a great deal of discussion among scientists in the medical press.

He said "If the new hair grower, Parlatan Sage, increases its sales as it has during the past year, it will be used by nearly every man, woman and child in America within eight years."

"And when Parlatan Sage is used almost universally, dandruff will disappear and with its departure baldness, itching scalp, splitting hair and all scalp diseases will follow and twenty years from now a baldhead will be a rarity."

THERE IS ONLY ONE WAY.
There is only one way to cure hair loss, and that is to kill the germs. There is only one hair preparation that will kill the germs, and

NELSON FAVORS FREE LUMBER.

Declares Country Is In the Grip of a Lumber
Trust.

SENATE DEBATES THE QUESTION

Minnesota Statesman, Catechized By Elkins and Others, Declares 30 cents a Bushel Is Too High a Tariff to Place on Wheat.

Washington, April 30.—The time of the senate was given to the general discussion of the tariff bill. Senator Raynor of Maryland led off with a general denunciation of the protective system, and he was followed by Senator Nelson of Minnesota, who made an earnest plea for the admission of lumber free of duty. His assertions aroused a quite general discussion, which was participated in by Senators Hale, Warren, Carter, Clapp, McLaren, McCumber, Elkins, Aldrich and Gallinger.

"Since my remarks here the other day," said Mr. Nelson, "some senators have said I am a free trader. I don't mind that. They may call me names so much as they please."

He quoted from a speech made by President Taft in New York in 1908, when he said the president had "come out squarely for a reduction of the tariff," and that, of course, he added, had done more than anything else to make him "near and dear to the people of the Upper Mississippi valley."

Mr. Nelson charged that Oriental labor was employed in Washington as well as in British Columbia. Mr. Piles replied that there were only two mills in the state which employed Oriental labor, while 11,000 white men were employed in that industry and 14,000 in the lumber industry.

Addressing Mr. Piles and other senators, Mr. Nelson said that lumber men all made great fortunes. "You can speak at this testimony," he said, "but we find men engaged in that industry turning up as millionaires when no one else gets to be a millionaire unless he has operated in stock watering in connection with some railroad."

And Mr. Nelson added: "The lumbermen in Minnesota who are contenting for a high tariff are the men who brought up the millions of acres of pine stumpage on the Pacific coast, in Oregon and Washington and the yellow pine in the south."

Insisting that the monopoly in lumber in this country was as complete as the hold of the iron ore, Mr. Nelson added: "These big men have patted Forester Pinchot on the back. They have been glad that he took so much of the timber in forest reserves, because they knew that the more he took the closer would be the corporate tax on themselves."

Quoting the tariff on wheat, vegetables, barley, beef, cabbage and other products of Minnesota provided in the bill, Senator Elkins of West Virginia asked the senators from Minnesota whether they considered it consistent to advocate free lumber. Senator Clapp replied that he did not approve so high a tariff as 30 cents a bushel on wheat. He did not wish anyone to quote those high rates as indicating his view of the tariff.

Mr. McLaren inquired what it happened that if the labor in the lumber camps of Canada was cheaper than such laborers do not move across the border into the United States.

"They do," said Mr. Gallinger. "They are coming here in swarms."

"Then it brings them in competition with our labor," suggested Mr. McLaren. "Is that fair?"

EVELYN THAW FINED
Must Appear in Court and Pay $250
Penalty For Contempt.

New York, April 30.—Failure to appear in court to submit to examination in supplementary proceedings caused Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw to be adjudged in contempt of court by Justice McVoy and sentenced to pay a fine of $250, which she must pay within five days or suffer imprisonment.

The court also granted an order for the appointment of a receiver for the property of Mrs. Thaw. This action is the outcome of a judgment for $250 obtained against Mrs. Thaw by a miller of this city.

Unknown Steamer Sinks.
Detroit, April 30.—A special from Salt Ste Marie reports the sinking of an unknown steamer about 400 feet long in White Fish bay, Captain Boyce of the steamer George W. Perry reported that the crew of the sinking steamer were seen walking over the ice to another vessel, which had also been caught in the ice.

Decent Burial For Olive Logan.
London, April 30.—Olive Logan, the American author, actress and lecturer, who died in an asylum at Bunknall April 27, will be buried in the municipal cemetery at Morden, Surrey, May 4.

Another Bond Burden.
Joliet, Ill., was one of the first cities to "renew" its municipal lighting. A gas plant was installed in 1887, bonds to the amount of $30,000 being issued. It proved a financial failure, and after eighteen months the city was glad to turn the plant over to a company which agreed to assume the bonds in exchange for a twenty-five year franchise.

WORLD'S BIGGEST SUBMARINE, JUST LAUNCHED FOR THE NAVY

Three submarines of the newest type and modern in every particular have just been launched at Quincy, Mass., and will have their speed trials during the next month. All the new vessels are built for speed. Naval experts are deeply interested in them, and it is believed that submarine speed records will be shattered when the trials are made. The largest of the trio is the Albacore, which, in fact, is the largest submarine vessel ever launched. She is 135 feet in length and resembles a giant swordfish, so graceful are her lines. She will carry a larger crew than any of the other submarines. This photograph is a snapshot of the launching of the vessel.

WHITE HOUSE HIRED HELP IS EXCITED

New Order Makes Them All Dine Together, Eat and Eat Alike.

Special to The Courier.
WASHINGTON, April 30.—There is great excitement among the hired help at the White House. The new housekeeper brought in by the Tafts has ordered that the three separate dining rooms heretofore maintained by the colored servants be merged into one and that all shall eat together in the dining room. Up to present there were three "sets" among the help employed by the President—1st, the upstairs crowd, which includes the waiters, the coachman, and the chambermaids with the colored steward presiding; 2nd, the kitchen help; 3rd, the housekeepers and scrub women. The members of the first class have been living on the fat of the land and have had a share of everything that the President's family ate. The kitchen help fared pretty well but not quite so sumptuously, and the third class were glad to get what was placed before them.

Under the new regime the housekeeper will assist not merely on all the colored help eating together, but on their getting only plain food. The baughty waiters, coachmen and chambermaids will no longer partake of quail on toast, mushrooms or strawberries in the winter. They are awfully sore over their descent to the common level of the other help, but none has yet resigned his job.

CHICAGO'S BIG STORM.

Five Persons Killed and Wire Service Crippled.

Chicago, April 30.—A furious gale storm, accompanied by a furious rain, over Chicago last night, bringing death to at least five persons and cutting the city off from direct outside communication for nearly two hours. The center of the storm was on the Southside, where three laborers were killed and several injured when the roof of the Grand Crowing Tack company's plant was blown off. A cottage at Seventy-ninth street and Ellis avenue was blown down and two men were killed and a woman and a child injured.

Telegraph and telephone wires were down on all sides of Chicago. It was the most complete penetration of wire service in twelve years. The Western Union reports that all its wires were cut off as though by a flash of lightning. Communication with the east was established slowly and by circuitous routes.

Little Town Wiped Out by Storm.

Killed by Lightning.

Fourteen Injured at Knoxville, Ark.
Knoxville, Ark., April 30.—Fourteen persons were injured, two seriously in a tornado here. Many houses were wrecked.

A Batch of Bulls.
An Irishman excused himself from going to church by saying he had such an excellent telescope that with it he could bring the church so near he could beat the organ playing.

It was Pat who observed, after watching two men shoot at an eagle and kill it, that they might have saved the powder and shot, as the fall alone would have killed the bird.

And it was Pat again who, telling a story as original and being informed by one of his auditors that he had read it in the translation of a Latin work, cried out: "Confound those ancients! They are always stealing one's good thoughts."

Didn't Get a Chance.

A LION HUNT.

Usually a Case in Which Hunters Good the Game Into Combat.

There is a distinction in Africa between ordinary lions and "man eaters," says T. R. MacMeehan in the Current Magazine. The ordinary lion does not willfully attack man. The presence of lions roaming at night on the veldt is not disturbing to any native nor to whites who have come to understand the beast. Persons returning to their camps after nightfall do not notice the roaring of lions or the cries of jackals or hyenas. It is seldom that people bent upon domestic errands carry weapons in the darkness, although at night the yell of British East Africa is alive with roaring beasts, which may be heard from the verandas of the houses. Lions give the passing man a wide berth, day or night, when it is apparent that he means no mischief. An ordinary lion, even when wounded, will fly right before light. When his escape is disputed it will, especially if wounded, try to maul his enemy with teeth and claws.

A lion hunt is usually a chase in which the hunters goad the game into combat. Once a lion has tasted human blood, however, it is no more afraid of man, but learns that he is the worst of all animals and the choicest of meat. Such a lion is known as a man eater because now he hunts man.

Ready Replies.
One of Lord Carmarthen's future constituents once asked the youthful candidate his opinion upon some alleged question of which he knew nothing. "Let him alone!" cried another derisively. "Don't you see he's nothing but a baby?" "What do you think?" retorted his inquirer, headless of the interruption and determined to have his say. "If that be Lord Carmarthen, with ready wit, 'that it is high time for all babies to be in bed,' and so saying he gathered up his papers and disappeared from the platform."

Again—and this last anecdote is so well known as to have become a well known historical—at a crowded meeting just before his election, he was interrupted by the question, "Does your mother know you're out?" "Yes," she does," was the instant reply. "And by Tuesday night she will know I'm in," he prophesied proved correct, and he headed the poll by a large majority.

Solomon's Bathing.
With Chronicles as its authority, the Plumber's Trade Journal says that the bathroom was an invention of King Solomon, who put it in use a thousand years before the Christian era. It was difficult to enter the sanctuary unless the body was perfectly clean, and for the accommodation of priests a bath-tub was erected at the entrance to the temple. It was said of Solomon, "He made a molten sea of ten cubits from brim to brim, round in compass, and five cubits the height thereof; and the line of thirty cubits did compass it roundabout." According to the measurements, the Solomonian bath-tub was forty-five feet in circumference at the top and six and one-half feet deep. It rested on carved figures of oxen and was of solid brass cast in one piece, decorated with a doric design. Connected with it there were ten small sinks, which were used for washing the offering.

Men Who Cheat Themselves.
I have known employees actually to work harder in scheming, shuffling, trying to keep from working hard in the performance of their duties, says Orison Sweet Marden in Success Magazine, than they would have worked if they had tried to do their best and had given the largest, the most liberal service possible to their employers. The hardest work in the world is that which is grudgingly done. The youth who is always haggling over the question of how many dollars and cents he will sell his services for little realizes how he is cheating himself by not looking at the larger salary he can pay himself in increasing his skill, in expanding his experience and in making himself a better, stronger, more useful man.

Park Scheme Blocked.
The Baltimore & Ohio railroad has refused to back half the cost of a underground trolley car line at Washington, Pa., to allow trolley cars to pass under its tracks. This blocks a scheme to build a large park.

The BLACK BAG

By Louis Joseph Vance

Copyright, 1908, by the Bobbs-Merrill Co.

"There's no other way. We must chance it. Are you afraid?"

"Afraid?" He stepped aside. She slipped by him and he closed the door, carefully removing the key and locking it on the outside, then joined the girl at the entrance to the mews, where they paused for a moment, as much disconcerted as he, his primary objection momentarily setting in force as they surveyed the conditions circumscribing their escape.

Quadrant mews was busily engaged in enjoying itself. Night had fallen sultry and humid, and the walls and doorsteps were well fringed and clustered with representatives of that class of London's population which infects mews through habit, taste or force of circumstance.

Over against the entrance wherein Kirkwood and the girl lurked, was founded by the problem of escaping undetected through this vivacious scene, a stable door stood wide, exposing a dimly illumined interior. Before it waited a four wheeler, horse already hitched in the shafts, while its driver, a man of leisurely turn of mind, made lingering inspection of straps and buckles, and, while Kirkwood watched him, turned attention to the carriage lamps.

The match which he raked spiritedly down his thigh flared ruddily. The succeeding pale glow of the lamp threw into relief a heavy heavy mask with shining bowers for cheeks and nose and chin. Through narrow slits two cunning eyes glittered like dull coins. Kirkwood arrested him with attention as one to whose gross carcase was embodied their only hope of unobserved return to the streets and normal surroundings of their world. The difficulty lay in attracting the man's attention and engaging him without arousing his suspicion or bringing the population about their ears. Though he hesitated long, no favorable opportunity presented itself, and in time the fellow approached the box with the ostensible purpose of mounting and driving off. In this critical situation the American, forced to recognize that boldness must mark his course, took the girl's fate and his own in his hands and, with a quick word to his companion, stepped out of hiding.

The cabby had a foot upon the step when Kirkwood tapped his shoulder.

"My man?"

"Yes, innit?" cried the fellow in amazement, pivoting on his heel. Cuddly and quick understanding softened the eyes which in two glances looked Kirkwood up and down. "Shelp me, thickly, 'where'd you drop from, guv'ner?"

"That's my affair," said Kirkwood briskly. "Are you engaged?"

"If you mykes yourself my fare," returned the cabby shrewdly, "I am."

"Ten shillings, then, if you get us out of here in one minute and to—say—Hyde Park Corner in fifteen."

her hair shone like pale gold in the half light. Her eyes were closed, and she held a handkerchief to her lips. The other hand lay limp.

"Miss Calendar?"

She started, and something bulky fell from the seat and thumped heavily on the floor. Kirkwood bent to pick it up and so for the first time was made aware that he had brought with him a small black Gladstone bag of considerable weight. As he placed it on the forward seat their eyes met.

"I didn't know," he began.

"It was to get that," she hastened to explain, "that my father sent me."

"I have been thinking that there is absolutely no way I know of to reach you properly. And I have been wondering," she continued with unaffected candor, "what you must be thinking of me."

"What should I think of you, Miss Calendar?"

With the air of a weary child she laid her head against the cushions again, face to him and watched him through lowered lashes unsmiling.

"You might be thinking that an explanation is due you. Even the way we were brought together was extraordinary. Mr. Kirkwood. You must be very generous, as generous as you have shown yourself hitherto, not to require some sort of an explanation of me."

"I don't see it that way."

"I don't. You have made me like you very much, Mr. Kirkwood."

"I'm glad," he said simply, "very glad if that's the case and presupposing I deserve it. Personally," he laughed, "I seem to myself to have been rather forward."

"No, only kind and a gentleman."

"Put—please!" he protested.

"Oh, but I mean it every word. Why shouldn't I? In a little while, ten minutes, half an hour, we shall have seen the last of each other. Why should I not tell you how I appreciate all that you have unselfishly done for me?"

"If you put it that way, I'm sure I don't know, beyond that it embarrasses me horribly to have you overestimate me so. If any courage has been shown this night it is yours. But I'm forgetting again." He thought to divert her. "Where shall I tell the cabby to go this time, Miss Calendar?"

"Craven street, please," said the girl and added a house number. "I am to meet my father there with this," indicating the Gladstone bag.

"CHAPTER VI.

KIRKWOOD thrust head and shoulders out of the window and instructed the cabby accordingly.

But his rule had been ineffective, as he found when he sat back again. Quite compassed the girl took up the thread of conversation where it had been broken off.

"It's rather hard to keep silence when you're been so good. I don't want you to think me less generous than yourself; but truly, I can tell you nothing." She sighed a trace reluctantly, or so he thought. "There is little enough in this—this wretched affair that I understand myself, and that little I may not tell I want you to know that."

"I understand, Miss Calendar."

"There's one thing I may say, however. I have done nothing wrong to night, I believe," she added quickly. "I've never for an instant questioned that," he returned, with a quiver of shame, for what he said was not true. "Thank you."

The four wheeler swung out of Oxford street into Clarendon road. Kirkwood noted the fact with a feeling of some relief that their ride was to be so short. Like many of his fellow sufferers from "the artistic temperament," he was acutely disconcerted by spoken words of praise and gratitude.

Nor had she fully relieved her mind nor voiced all that perturbed her. "There's one thing more," she said presently—"my father. I—I hope you will think charitably of him."

"Indeed, I've no reason or right to think otherwise."

"I was afraid—afraid his actions might have seemed peculiar tonight."

"There are lots of things I don't understand, Miss Calendar. Some day perhaps it will all clear up—this trouble of yours. At least, one supposes it is trouble of some sort. And then you will tell me the whole story. Won't you?" Kirkwood insisted.

"I'm afraid not," she said with a smile of shadowed sadness. "We are to say good night to a moment or two and—it will be goodbye as well. It's unlikely that we shall ever meet again."

"I refuse positively to take such a gloomy view of the case."

She shook her head laughing with him, but with shy regret. "It's no use the less. We are leaving London this very night my father and I—leaving England for that matter."

"Leaving England?" he echoed. "You're not by any chance bound for America are you?"

"I can't tell you."

"But you can tell me this—are you looked on the Nineteen?"

"No, it is—quite another boat."

"Of course," he commented savagely. "It wouldn't be me to have any sort of luck."

"Since we are to say goodbye so very soon," suggested Kirkwood, "may I ask a parting favor Miss Calendar?"

She regarded him with friendly eyes. "You have every right," she assured gently.

"Then please to tell me frankly are you going into any further danger?"

"And is that the only boon you crave at my hands Mr. Kirkwood?"

"Without imperitance."

For a little time, waiting for him to conclude his vague phrase she watched him in an expectant silence. But the man was diffident to a degree. At length somewhat unconsciously "I think not," she answered. "No, there will be no danger awaiting me at Mrs. Hallam's. You need not fear for me any more. Thank you."

He lifted his brows at the unfamiliar name. "Mrs. Hallam?"

"I am going to her house in Craven street."

"Your father is to meet you there?"

"He promised to."

"But, if he shouldn't?"

"Why?" Her eyes clouded. She pursed her lips over the conjectural annoyance. "Why, in that event I suppose it would be very embarrassing. You see, I don't know Mrs. Hallam. I don't know that she expects me unless my father is already there. They are old friends. I could drive round for a while and come back, I suppose."

"Won't you let me ask if Mr. Calendar is there before you get out then? I don't like to be dismissed," he laughed, "and, you know, I shouldn't so wandering round all alone."

The cab drew up. Kirkwood put a hand on the door and awaited her.

"It—it would be very kind. I hate to impose upon you."

He turned the key and got out. "If you'll wait one moment," he said unceremoniously as he closed the door.

Pausing only to verify the number, he sprang up the steps and found the bell button.

It was a modest little residence, in nothing more remarkable than its neighbors unless it was for a certain air of extra grooming. The area railing was sleek with fresh black paint. The doorknob looked the better for vigorous stoning. The door itself was immaculate, its brasses shining lustrous against red lacquered woodwork. A soft glow filled the doorway. Behind the drawing room windows shone with a very warm radiance.

The door opened revealing the figure of a maid sketched broadly in masses of somber black and dead white.

"Can you tell me is Mr. Calendar here?"

"The servant's eyes left his face, looked past him at the waiting cab and returned.

"I'm not sure, sir. If you will please step in."

Kirkwood hesitated briefly then acceded. The maid closed the door.

"What name shall I say, sir?"

"Mr. Kirkwood."

"If you will please to wait one moment, sir."

He was left in the entry hall the servant hurrying to the staircase and up. Three minutes elapsed. He was on the point of returning to the girl when the maid reappeared.

"Mrs. Hallam says will you kindly step upstairs, sir."

Disgruntled he followed her. At the head of the stairs she bowed him into the drawing room and again left him to his own resources.

Waried he deposited himself suitably in an armchair by the hearth and waited.

From a boudoir on the same floor there came murmurs of two voices, a man's and a woman's. The latter laughed prettily.

"Oh, any time," snorted the American—"any time you're through with your confounded flirtation, Mr. George B. Calendar!"

The voices rose, approaching "Good night," said the woman softly. "Take well, and—good luck go with you."

"Thank you. Good night," replied the man, more conservatively.

Kirkwood rose, expectant.

CRAZED BY REJECTION

Suitor Kills Smith College Girl and Commits Suicide

Northampton, Mass., April 30.—Temporarily insane, it is believed, because of her refusal to marry him, Porter Smith, who graduated from Dartmouth college last June, shot and fatally wounded Miss Helen Ayer Marden of Somerville, Mass., a member of the senior class at Smith college, and then turning the revolver on himself, committed suicide.

Miss Marden was taken to the Dickinson hospital, where she died shortly before noon. She was the daughter of Frank W. Marden, a Boston oil merchant, who lives in Somerville.

REBEL SCOUT HONORED

Nashville, Tenn., April 30.—A man named to Sam Davis, a Confederate scout who rather than divulge the source of information which he had secured suffered death on the gallows at the hands of the federal at Pulaski, Tenn., on Nov. 27, 1864, was unveiled on Capitol hill.

Little Elizabeth Davis, a grandniece of Davis unveiled the monument. Governor Patterson accepted the status on behalf of Tennessee.

MISSIONARIES

SAFE AT HADJIN.

Troops Arrive and Fear of Massacre is Disputed.

MISS LAMBERT SENDS WORD

New Turkish Cabinet Takes Up Consideration of Disorders in Asiatic Turkey and Those Responsible Will Be Punished.

Constantinople, April 30.—A welcome message has been received from Hadjin province of Adana where five American women missionaries have been taken with thousands of refugees who sought safety there from hands of Moslems seeking to put them to the sword. Hadjin withstood a siege for eight days and the missionaries have been sending out frantic appeals for help. Today a message reached here from Miss Lambert, the daughter of Bishop Lambert, timed 10 22 a. m., which said:

"With the arrival of the troops the disorders in and about the city have ceased and we are all safe and well."

The Turkish cabinet has taken up the situation in Adana and neighboring districts. The new governor general, Mustafa Zihni is due to arrive at the town of Adana today. He has been instructed to take the most energetic measures to establish order and to relieve the sufferers.

Adul Bey, under secretary of state, said that the government would make a searching investigation into the cause of the disorders and punish the instigators.

Reports received at the ministry of the interior indicate that quiet now prevails everywhere.

The government has decided to send a communication to Adana to try by court martial the instigators of the massacres and the commission is requested to act with the utmost severity. It is alleged that the chief authors of the recent trouble were Abdul Hamid's favorite son, prince Mehmed Durhan Edine, Rear Admiral Said Pasha, son of Kiamil Pasha, the former grand vizier, and Nadir Pasha, who were engaged for a long time prior to the rising in corrupting the troops. The two former have fled.

NADIR PASHA HANGED

Abdul Hamid's Chief Eunuch Pays Penalty For His Wickedness

Constantinople, April 30.—Nadir Pasha the second eunuch of the palace under Abdul Hamid, was hanged on the Galata bridge, the great thoroughfare that connects Stamboul with the quarters of Galata and Pera. The body was allowed to swing until 2 o'clock in the morning and squads of people stopped to look at the Nubian whose name was a terror under Abdul Hamid.

The dead man's face showed an undeviating jaw and thick, heavy lips. In life he had been fully 6 feet 4 inches tall. Nadir was executed after a trial by court martial on the charge that he instigated the rising of the troops on April 19. He was accused to be intensely ambitious, subtle minded and impossible to the sufferings of others. He was one of the trio that formed Abdul Hamid's private cabinet under the old regime.

Nadir Pasha came to the imperial palace as a slave and grew up in the hotbed of intrigue. He was regarded as having been the chief conspirator in the events of April 13.

The Constitutionalists have lost no time in bringing the conspirators in the recent rising to trial. The military court sitting in the war office today, condemned about 270 prisoners to death and they were executed.

DUE AT TABRIZ TODAY

Russian Relief Column Overcomes Opposition of the Persians

St. Petersburg, April 30.—The Russian column, under General Surovsky, now on its way to the relief of Tabriz, has passed Dairidz deile, where it was held back for a time by small bands of the shah's followers, and is rapidly pushing toward the beleaguered city. The foreign office confidently expects that the leading detachment will arrive at its destination today.

A dispatch received here from Tabriz says that the Nationalists are ready to make a sortie to clear the way for the Russians.

PROSECUTOR THREATENED

Night Riders Advise Him to Keep Soldiers at Hand.

Waverly, Tenn., April 30.—Attorney General Dowdall has received a threatening letter from Clarksville, Tenn. It was signed "Tennessee and Kentucky Night Riders" and advised that if the state prosecutor wished to live in peace he had better keep the soldiers away from him.

The letter stated that the writer would watch the attorney general the closing words were: "Look out, damn you, we are in this for life."

Walsh Still Holding Out.

Chicago, April 30.—Ed Walsh star pitcher of the Chicago White Sox, has arrived here, but so far he has failed to come to terms with President Comiskey.

Castro Rapidly Recovering

Paris, April 30.—Cipriano Castro, the deposed president of Venezuela, is rapidly recovering his health. He drives out in an automobile every day.

The Soap Cleans, the Resinol in it Heals and Stimulates Your Scalp

Resinol Soap is an absolutely pure soap of delightful quality combined with the greatest skin-specific known to the medical profession—Resinol.

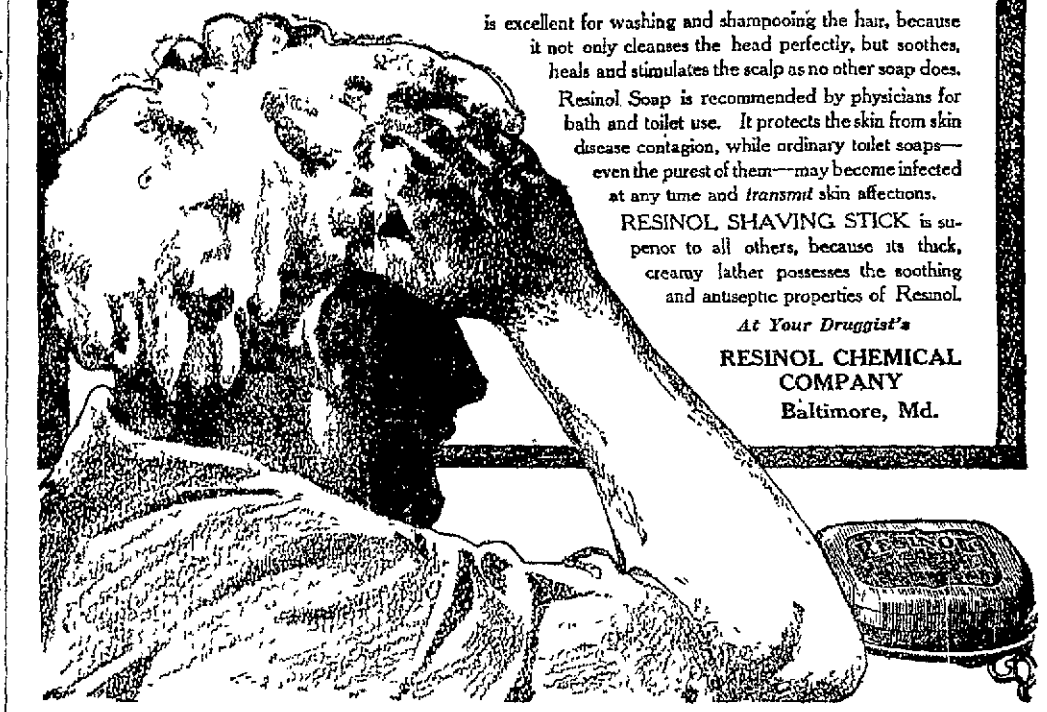

RESINOL SOAP

is excellent for washing and shampooing the hair, because it not only cleanses the head perfectly, but soothes, heals and stimulates the scalp as no other soap does.

Resinol Soap is recommended by physicians for bath and toilet use. It protects the skin from skin disease contagion, while ordinary toilet soaps—even the purest of them—may become infected at any time and transmit skin affections.

RESINOL SHAVING STICK is superior to all others, because its thick, creamy lather possesses the soothing and antiseptic properties of Resinol.

LATEST PORTRAIT OF MRS. LONGWORTH; HER COTTAGE NEAR TAFT SUMMER HOME

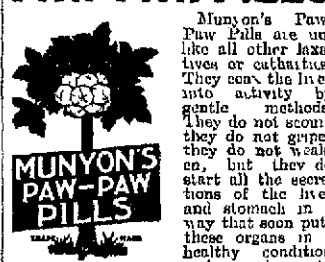

Representative Nicholas Longworth and Mrs. Longworth will be neighbors of President and Mrs. Taft this summer and will go to their summer home at Beverly Hills, early in the season. The cottage, which is a modern ten room house on the seashore and only a short distance from the Taft cottage, is now being placed in readiness for Mr. and Mrs. Longworth. The condition of Mrs. Longworth's health would not permit her to accompany her husband when he went to Cincinnati last week to visit his relatives and he has decided to take her to the seashore as soon as the cottage has undergone the necessary repairs. Mrs. Longworth probably will be visited by Mrs. Roosevelt during the early summer.

John A. Benson Acquitted

Washington, April 30.—John A. Benson of San Francisco, charged with bribery of government officials in connection with western land irregularities, has been acquitted.

CONSTIPATION MUNYON'S PAW-PAW PILLS

Munyon's Paw-Paw Pills are unlike all other laxatives or cathartics. They are a healthy, gentle, and safe remedy for constipation. They do not hurt, they do not grip, they do not cause any of the evils of the liver and stomach in any way that soon puts these organs in a healthy condition and corrects constipation.

In my opinion constipation is responsible for most ailments. It is a deadly foe of human health, which is really a severe pain. When this pipe becomes clogged, the whole system becomes poisoned, running bitterness, indigestion and impure blood, which often produces rheumatism and kidney ailments. No woman who suffers with constipation or any liver complaint can expect to have a fair complexion, or enjoy good health.

Munyon's Paw-Paw Pills are a home remedy for constipation, indigestion, and nervousness. They cleanse the blood instead of impoverishing it, they enable the stomach to get all the nourishment from food that is put into it.

These pills contain no alcohol or drugs, they are soothing, healing, and stimulating. They school the bowels to act without physic. Price 25 cents.

OBJECTS TO DAVIS ON CUP

Representative Hollingsworth of Ohio Files a Complaint.

Washington, April 30.—Representative Hollingsworth of Ohio has prepared a resolution calling upon the secretary of the Navy for information relative to the report that the state of Mississippi is proposing to present to the battleship Mississippi an elaborate silver service whose centerpiece bears an engraved portrait of Jefferson Davis.

Mr. Hollingsworth was dissatisfied from presenting the resolution. The resolution asks by whom and on what authority such gift is to be accepted and what lesson of loyalty or patriotism such portrait engraving is intended to teach.

Million Dollar Plant Projected.

Parkersburg W. Va., April 30.—The Phillips Sheet and Tinplate company, which employs 800 men at its plant here, has purchased a large tract of land on the West Virginia side of the Ohio river near Wheeling Junction, upon which it will erect a large model tinplate plant to cost nearly $1,000,000. A town will be founded and named West City after E. T. Weir. The company will continue to operate its plant here.

They Petition Governor Stuart to Make It a Law.

CHILD LABOR IS BILL SIGNED

Sherr Law Considered Better Than the Law It Supersedes—Governor Also Attaches His Signature to Other Important Measures.

Harrisburg, Pa., April 30.—The retail merchants of Pennsylvania, through 300 representatives assembled here, presented a memorial to Governor Stuart asking him to approve senate bill No. 191, which permits the attachment of 25 per cent of wages or salaries for debt.

The memorial sets forth that no person who intends to meet his obligations can object to this bill; that two successive legislatures have passed it; that the retail merchants of the state are entitled to this protection, and that other states have such a law.

Governor Stuart has signed the Sherr child labor bill, which is regarded as a distinct advance over the old law.

Governor Stuart also signed the House bill making Oct. 14 a legal holiday, to be known as Columbus day. Fifteen other bills were signed as follows:

Amending the state veterinarian act so that it shall apply to veterinary "medicines" as well as veterinary "surgery."

Validating divorces granted on the ground of the hopeless insanity of the respondent.

Permitting cities of the third class to validate paving ordinances.

Amending an act relating to liens of the commonwealth against unimproved lands.

Amending the act providing for the establishment of free public libraries in school districts.

Providing for the vacation of cemeteries.

Amending the act making constables members ex officio fire wardens.

Directing the recorder of deeds of each county to refuse for record all mortgages, assignments of mortgages and agreements for the payment of money unless a certificate is attached giving the residence of the mortgagor, assignee and persons entitled to interest.

Preventing any individual from holding more than one of the offices of a building and loan association.

Providing for the election of poor directors.

Fixing the fees of court clerks and justices.

Providing for placing on the list of retired national guardsmen all commissioned officers of the Pennsylvania volunteers who served in the Spanish-American war.

Prescribing a method for making payment of warrants drawn upon the state treasurer.

Providing for the registration of conveyances of real estate in townships of the first class in order to facilitate the assessment of taxes.

Making valid the bonds or other obligations issued prior to the first day of February, 1909, by counties, cities, boroughs, townships, school districts and other municipalities with the consent of the electors in excess of 2 per centum and less than 7 per centum of the assessed valuation of taxable property in all cases where there has been a failure to file in the office of the clerk of quarter sessions the statement required by law.

The governor also approved the resolution authorizing the state treasurer to collect from the surpluses of the Allegheny National bank of the city of Pittsburgh the amount of money due the commonwealth, together with interest at the rate of 2 per cent per annum.

Harrisburg, Pa., April 30.—Governor Stuart has appointed Alexander J. Pontreco, Pittsburgh; William S. McKinney, Allegheny; John T. Juma, Waynesburg; Hay Walker, Jr., Allegheny; William D. Wallace, New Castle; F. H. Skelton, Pittsburgh; James Sharp Wilson, Denver; John W. Crawford, Pittsburgh, to be managers of the Pennsylvania reform school at Morgantown.

SONS OF MEN OF '76 MEET

Patriotic Society, S. A. R., Holds Annual Congress in Baltimore.

Baltimore, April 30.—The Sons of the American Revolution, descended from the men who freed the colonies from Great Britain, met here today in annual congress. More than 500 delegates, representing the thirty-eight states which have branch societies, with delegates from the District of Columbia and Hawaii, are assembled at the congress.

The first meeting for the transaction of business, after the address of welcome by Mayor Mahon, was held today. Cardinal Gibbons delivered the opening invocation. Today's sessions are held in the Hotel Belvedere. Tomorrow the delegates and visitors will go to Annapolis for a visit to the Naval academy and a reception by Governor Crothers at the executive mansion. A review of the naval cadets will be held, and after visits to the old senate chamber in the statehouse, where Washington resigned his commission as commander-in-chief of the Continental army, and to other points of interest the delegates will assemble for the election of officers.

UNCLE SAM'S HAND

Extracts Lumps of Sweetness Worth $2,000,000 From Sugar Bowl.

New York, April 30.—The American Sugar Refining company of New Jersey and the New York corporation of the same name has paid into the treasury of the United States $2,000,000 completing a payment aggregating over $2,134,000 in settlement of all civil claims arising out of the fraudulent weighing of sugar on the docks of the refineries in Brooklyn and Jersey City. The companies further agree to give up their right of appeal.

The settlement was made upon the advice of the companies' lawyers. A statement from the latter is made public in which they say that the settlement seemed wise because of the fact that the government had threatened otherwise to bring further suits for amounts reaching nearly $3,000,000.

The settlement, while it discharges all the civil claims made by the government against the companies, does not prevent the bringing of criminal prosecutions against the men responsible for the use of the fraudulent device, through the use of which false weights were recorded.

GOLF UNDER DIFFICULTIES
Tournament at Atlantic City Proceeds by Lantern Light.

Atlantic City, N. J., April 30.—Playing golf by the light of lanterns in weather that strongly suggested mid-winter was the unusual scene at the close of the first day's play of the annual spring tournament on the links of the Atlantic City Country club.

Just 130 men started, but it was so cold and windy that play was interminably slow and, although a score of lanterns were called into play, nearly a dozen contestants lost balls in the darkness and were forced to withdraw.
